

750-year-old Korean luxury 'Andong Soju'

Since 2007

 안동소주

After fermentation using 100% domestic rice and clean 158m of clean bedrock water, the famous Andong Soju is manufactured using the traditional Andong Soju brewing method and the unique three-stage vacuum distillation and new technology filtration of Andong traditional pongee as the main raw material before drinking. It has a mellow flavor with a subtle scent, softness when drinking, and a clean finish after drinking.

Andong Soju is one of those few places that stay true to the traditional methods. It starts off sweet but ends with the astringent taste of persimmon, with Andong’s clear water, high-quality rice, and homemade traditional yeast, using a secret method passed down for generations.

We produce Andong Soju, which has delicate scent and savoury taste.
